GIFT SHOP UPDATE

Well October hit me so quick I really haven't had time to think of anything too witty to say. So I sit here wondering how everyone else feels now that fall is well into the middle.

Are you feeling the rush of life? Just the other day, on September 25th, someone said "do you realize that Christmas is only 3 months away?" With this very large lump in my throat I swallowed and politely replied "No, I didn't notice". What I really wanted to say was "Oh my goodness I can't believe it and thanks for putting my day in a state of depression!" Actually I am just kidding, I love Christmas season. I do wonder though, will we have snow this year? I guess time will tell, and with time flying by so quickly it will tell far too soon.

Anyway, being a newsletter, I must report the news. So here it goes. As always we have several in store specials including fleece loungers @ 50% off, purses @ 25% off, new moccasin styles @ 20% off, and of course much more. Oh, I almost forgot: we now have a beautiful line of glass angels that are holding the pink breast cancer ribbon and I am expecting to increase the line with some new products very soon.

Also new I have a line of organic T-shirts that have sayings to help inform people on global warming. These are available in children's and adults with 25% of profits being donated to the world wild life fund. So we have some great new things I can't wait to show off.

Inventory comes every year around this time and I have scheduled it for Monday October 29th, Tuesday October 30th, and Wednesday October 31st. This meaning we will be closed on these days. However, will remain open for all cigarette sales on these three days. So why not make life easier and come on down and shop, shop, shop. Empty my shelves and make counting easier than ever! (Please)

Have a great Thanksgiving!
Sincerely,
Rhonda
